

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

In your heart's garden fair,
Plant in the sunniest spot
This little flower bright and rare,
For it—the dear forget-me-not.

Keep it fresh and ever in bloom,
To brighten my memory's lot,
Then life will hold love's perfume
Sweet in your forget-me-not.

When We Are Upon the Seas.

(From "Hallelujah.")

By GEORGE WITHER.

Other selections from this author, his portrait, autograph and biographical sketch, have already been printed in this series.

On those great waters now I am,
Of which I have been told,
That whosoever thither came
Should wonder there beheld.
In this unsteady place of fear,
He present, Lord, with me;
For in these depths of water here
I depths of danger see.

A stirring course now I sit,
A headstrong steed I ride,
That champs and foams upon the bit
Which curbs his lofty pride.
The softest whistling of the winds
Doth make him gallop fast;
And as their breath increased he finds
The more he maketh haste.

Take thou, O Lord! the reins in hand,
Assume our Master's room;
Vouchsafe Thou art our helm to stand,
And pilot to become.
Trim Thou the sails, and let good speed
Accompany our haste;
Sound Thou the channels at our need,
And anchor for us cast.

A fit and favorite wind
To further us provide;
And let it wait on us behind,
Or lackey by our side.
From sudden gusts, from storms from sands,
And from the raging waves,
From shallows, rocks, and pirates' hands,
Men, goods, and vessel save.

Preserve us from the wants, the fear,
And sickness of the seas;
But chiefly from our sins, which are
A danger worse than these.
Lord! let us also safe arrive
Where we desire to be;
And for Thy mercies let us give
Due thanks and praise to Thee.

DUNLOP ADDED.

Becomes Member of Faculty of Richmond Academy.

Owing to the unparalleled increase of students, the management of Richmond Academy has found it necessary to add Mr. A. E. Dunlop, a graduate of Bowdoin College, Maine, and athletic director of Richmond College, to its present faculty. Mr. Dunlop needs no recommendation to the public of Richmond, as in the two years he has been located here he has made many friends, being especially well known in all athletic circles.

In his work at the academy he will have entire charge of the penmanship department, teaching writing according to the instruction and methods of a business college, and since he has had three full years of experience at teaching, his acquisition to the already excellent corps of professors should be duly appreciated.

Dean Prince expressed himself yesterday afternoon as being greatly pleased that the committee had secured an instructor so well qualified in every respect as Mr. Dunlop, and prophesied a very successful year in the work of Richmond Academy.

MANY FROM SOUTHWEST.

Long List of Virginians in Memorial Hospital.

The Memorial Hospital this week has the largest number of people from Southwest Virginia within its walls that has probably been there since the hospital was opened. Since Monday ten people from that section have been received. Luckily, none of them are dangerously ill, and it is to be hoped that all will be home in a short time.

Those from the Southwest are Mr. S. W. Ayers, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. White, Mrs. Alexander Stuart and Mrs. Charles Gibson, all from Abingdon, Va.; Mrs. J. P. Peck, of Pocahontas; Miss Ellen Painter, of Pittsford; Mr. J. S. Snively, of Crockett's; and Joseph D. Logan, of Salem, Va.

Denies Report.

The Rev. Dr. James Nelson, president of the Woman's College, of the city, yesterday denied the published report to the effect that his son-in-law, the Rev. S. W. M. Nelson, of Augusta, Ga., contemplated coming here to accept the presidency of the college.

P.-M. ROYAL E. CABELL A HORTICULTURIST

Will Endeavor to Grow Tropical Fruits in Post-Office Yard.

Postmaster Royal E. Cabell, who, though quite a young man, is yet one who possesses a great diversity of tastes and talents.

For example, he is a strong lawyer, and is thoroughly acquainted with the winding ways of modern jurisprudence. Mr. Cabell comes of a family of professional men, and he takes to the law "as a duck to water." He is an orator of no mean distinction, and has won honors over strong competitors, both on the hustings and in the forum. Again, he is a literary man, and is devoted to his books. He possesses all the culture and polish of the old Virginia gentleman, and is a veritable Chesterfield in his manner and bearing.

But he is more. He is a man of consummate executive ability, who is both gifted and trained in the art of managing men.

Having been reared amid the fertile fields of old Nelson, Mr. Cabell, of course, knows much of the subject of agriculture, but it has just developed that he is trained as well in the science of horticulture.

This fact is not generally known to the public, but it is well understood about the Federal Building, where he is furnishing a practical demonstration.

"I don't see why this soil and climate will not permit the growing of Bay-2," he said yesterday as he looked through the northern window of his office and pointed to his little grove of fig bushes.

"I am going to try it any way," he continued. "These bushes have usually been cut in the fall for fire stems, but I am going to keep the largest one in the lot and see what it will do under cultivation."

So, after all, it may be that the popular home Federal office will be able to literally follow the Biblical injunction and sit beneath his "own vine and fig tree," and divide the fruits thereof with his neighbors.

FIRE THIEF BUSY.

Stole $150 While House Was Blazing.

A thief stole $150 from the room occupied by A. G. Whedden, a negro, while fire raged in the house No. 100 North First Street, yesterday morning. Whedden occupied one room, and the other room was held in possession by Fred Foster, another negro. Many willing hands removed the furniture while the flames were spreading, and when the furniture had all left, the $150 that Whedden said was under his pillow suddenly disappeared.

Have You Been to the Feast?

"I have found more and better values at this sale than at any similar sale in years." Such were the words of a lady customer at No. 6 E. Broad Street yesterday.

The sale is the last effort to clear out the remainder of a mammoth stock of Dry Goods, and is caused by the complete change of business of a long-established and prominent Broad Street firm.

The store at No. 6 E. Broad Street, opposite Foushee's, was only leased for a short while, and the goods have to be sold at some price. As a result, big bargains are to be had. It is simply a case where they must sell.

A significant fact is that although many different merchants have made efforts to get the stock, they were as often refused. The plan and aim of the owners have been to let the public reap the benefits occasioned by circumstances attending the sale.

The stock is a choice one. Take the Laces and the Hamburgs, for instance. Here any woman can save many dollars and still get the best. Every department is full of extra good values—Dress Goods, Notions, Carpets, Curtains, Rugs, Silks, etc. These are but a few of the departments.

In a few more days the entire stock will be gone. The prices are too low for it to be otherwise. No doubt our readers will share in the bargain buying.

LOWNEY'S BREAKFAST COCOA

Cocoa beans grow in pods on the trunk and limbs of a delicate tropical tree. They contain six times more food value than beef.

We use the highest cost beans that are grown and there is nothing in our cocoa but cocoa.

That is why it is the most delicious of COCOAS.

Newspaper Tributes.

On the demise of the late Henry Clay Payne, a concern in New York gathered from the papers published throughout the United States 4,655 newspaper stories of the life and career of the deceased.

These items were carefully mounted on Irish linen leaves and bound in 6 volumes, 400 pages to the book. A cover of genuine seal was appropriately lettered in gold and the entire material, representing the work of many people for several months, has just been delivered to Mrs. Payne at Milwaukee.

Mr. Durrelle, who makes a specialty of this unique method of preserving family history, also compiled four volumes containing the letters, telegrams and cards of condolence received by the family, all constituting a family heirloom that will be handed down to future generations.

This work is one of the several developments of the press clipping industry and Mr. Durrelle has made a special study of the work he created several years ago.
